Dear Managers and Supervisors,

It is always difficult to institute policies that are new, especially those that will affect the eighteen inches of space that surround each of us at work. For this reason, what we wear to work, where we sit at work, our work equipment, and so forth, are very important to each of us.

We are introducing a dress code at Laughing Dog Company for a number of reasons.

- As our professionalism and sales continue to grow, staff members need to exhibit the look that confirms our professionalism for our customers, our partners, and our coworkers.
- Managers have requested specific guidance on what is appropriate for their staff to wear to work.
- Different managers, in different departments, have different standards for what is appropriate work attire. Employees, sometimes rightly, ask why certain clothing is acceptable in one department and not in another. Employees have stated that they sometimes feel we are discriminating against their mode of dressing.
- Employees complain to their supervisors and HR when they feel other employees are dressed inappropriately. We currently have no standard to assess whether this is true.
- Employees and team members have complained about the professional appearance of team members and managers to managers and to HR. They have expressed concern about the appearance of some employees who interact with customers and partners.
- Employees complain when they believe that other employees are wearing too little clothing or showing too much skin for a professional work environment.

A dress code gives us a standard for our professional appearance. It establishes a standard that the average employee is comfortable with and can, with a few changes, understand and implement.

You have had three opportunities to look the policy over and give us feedback. Your employees have had almost a year to know that a policy is coming. We have received lots of feedback over the year. The feedback we have received has had an impact on every draft of this policy.

Notice that head gear has not been disallowed. Notice that for jewelry in body piercings, only good taste and moderation have been requested. Jeans and bib overalls are permitted for manufacturing wear. Athletic shoes are allowed.

The elimination of each of these had been requested by managers who do not believe we have been strict enough in this iteration of the policy. We are striving for a balance between our needs for professionalism and our desire to enable comfort and self-expression.
